25 Years of Dads' Night

This year Lincoln Dads' Night celebrates its 25th anniversary! The original idea began in 1999 when Bill Gatoni and Steve Kolenack created the Dads' Night band and recruited all dads interested to put on Lincoln's first variety show. Dr. Mary Orr was the principal at the time and immediately supported this new phenomenon. Mike Panayos offered his technical services with a flip of a very impressive business card in 2006 and hasn't left since. Traditions quickly evolved as t-shirt and skit submission contests became annual.

Over the years, many celebrities have made appearances including the Jonas Brothers, Kaity Tong and Bob Simon while skits of dads in tutus were found on YouTube and used in a Subway sandwich commercial. Mr. Patrick Lee inherited this show when he became principal in 2015 and has supported the show both as the leader of the school as well as a constant cameo year after year. The fundraising efforts the Dads' Night organization over the last 25 years have been estimated to be over half a million dollars. More importantly, the amount of long lasting friendships, smiles on children's faces and eye rolls of moms in the audience has been, and always will be, countless and priceless. Thank you for being here to celebrate our silver anniversary and all the support, all year along.

5th Grade Graduating Dads
Sadi Alimi, Vache Bahadurian, Amato Galasso, Eugene Jackson

To our graduating dads, we will miss you. You have taught us a lot and we hope to keep the tradition going. Best wishes for the future and we'll see you at Eisenhower.

A big thanks to our wives who gave us the free time to put this event together. We hope you enjoyed the show and despite our performances are proud of us.

Last but not least, the Lincoln School Children. Without you all we wouldn't be here making this show and making new friends! Thank you for your skit ideas and T-shirt designs.

You kids inspire us Dads - We Love You!!!
